

Virginia Community College (VCCS) Site Equivalencies for PHYS 2305 and PHYS 2306

Beginning Fall 2022 all VCCS sites will offer PHY 241 and PHY 242 and those courses will fully equate:
PHY 241 = PHYS 2305, PHY 242 = PHYS 2306 – no additional modules will be needed.

If the VCCS site offers PHY 231: General University Physics I and PHY 232: General University Physics II, the following equivalencies apply:

- PHY 231: General University Physics I = PHYS 2305: Foundations of Physics I
- PHY 232: General University Physics II = PHYS 2306: Foundations of Physics I

If the VCCS site offers PHY 241: University Physics I and PHY 242: University Physics II, the following equivalencies apply:

- PHY 241: University Physics I + PHY 242: University Physics II (at the same VCCS site) = PHYS 2305: Foundations of Physics I + PHYS 2306: Foundations of Physics II
- If only one of these courses is completed, or both are completed but at different VCCS sites, the equivalency is shown in the below chart (some sites will require an additional module be completed at Virginia Tech to complete the transfer equivalent):

- A substitution will be made on the Degree Audit Report (DARs) to satisfy the requirement(s) for College of Engineering students.
- Any course requiring PHYS 2305 or PHYS 2306 as a pre-requisite will need to be force-added, details can be located here.
- Students that need PHYS 2324: Thermal Module to complete transfer credit for PHYS 2305 will be able to also enroll in PHYS 2306 concurrently with the PHYS 2324 module. Please contact your academic advisor to determine how to make this request.
